Russia Again Hits Aid Plan

By Robert Manning
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 14 —(BUP)—Russia attacked the so-called Vandenberg amendment to the $400,000,000 Greek-Turkish aid program today, charging that it displayed "contempt" for the United Nations.

THE AMENDMENT, which gives the UN a limited right to "veto" the program, was scored by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko as a belated gesture which "merely underscores the unilateral character" of the Truman program.

Gromyko said the provision as offered by Chairman Arthur H. Vandenberg, Mich., of the Senate foreign relations committee, was meaningless until its adoption by Congress.

The amendment, approved by the Senate but not yet acted on by the house, would allow a majority of the Security Council or the assembly to shut off American aid to Greece and Turkey when it found the help was "unnecessary or undesirable." Vetoes in the Security Council would not be recognized.

IN HIS SECOND verbal assault on the Truman doctrine in the Security Council, Gromyko said that "no country has the right to decide how the UN should come to a decision or how the UN or any of its organs should vote."

Seek Truman's Aid In Phone Strike

By CHARLES H. HERROLD
WASHINGTON, April 14. —(BUP)—Leaders of the nation's striking telephone workers were called into session today to work out an appeal to President Truman for intervention in the deadlocked telephone peace talks.

The 49-member policy committee of the National Federation of Telephone Workers scheduled the strategy conference as the walk-out entered its second week with no settlement in sight.

NFTW PRESIDENT Joseph Beirne said the union would ask Mr. Truman to use his good offices to bring about a resumption of direct negotiations between the company and the strikers. He said it would ask for government seizure of the industry.

Police Probe Safe-Blowing

A safe blown open at the Royal Fruit Company, 10259 105 street, during Sunday night was the cause of investigations by city police Monday. Detective Inspector Bert Petheram said that $200 cash and $500 in non-negotiable cheques had been taken. A neat job was done by the "yeggs" who used nitro-glycerine to blow the dial off the safe. Entrance to the building was gained by a small window under the loading platform. The report to police was made about 5:30 a.m. Monday by George Jackson, a company foreman.

Calls for Action Against Wallace

WASHINGTON, April 14 (AP)—Chairman Parnell Thomas (Rep.-N.J.) of the house of representatives committee on un-American activities said today the justice department has "no alternative" to taking legal action against Henry A. Wallace for the statements the former vice-president has made in Britain.

THOMAS SAID his committee today looked over the Logan Act which forbids any American citizen to deal with a foreign government or its agents on a matter in dispute between the two countries or in any way "to defeat the measures of the government of the United States."

"It covers Henry Wallace," Thomas said, "just as you'd cover a person with a cloak."
He said his committee plans no action, that it is "clearly a matter for the attorney-general to take action, and he'll have no excuse whatsoever."

Want Parley Voice
NANKING, April 14.—(AP)—China renewed efforts today to win a place at the German peace conference table. Foreign Minister Wang Shih-chieh said in a written statement that China and other countries "who joined in the common war effort against Germany" should be given the "widest possible representation" at the conference.

Round-World Plane Smashing Records

Bombshell Streaks for Tokyo

SHANGHAI, April 14.—(BUP)—The Reynolds Bombshell took off for Tokyo at 1:20 p.m. E.S.T. today on its round the world speed flight.

By RONALD V. ROLFE
SHANGHAI, April 14 (BUP)—The Reynolds Bombshell, a converted bomber rocketing around the world in quest of a new speed record, landed here tonight at 11:58 a.m. EST, 42 hours and 47 minutes out of New York.

MILTON REYNOLDS, Chicago manufacturer, and his two crewmen reached Shanghai six hours and 55 minutes after the takeoff from Calcutta.

With their arrival here, they had completed perhaps the most dangerous leg of the round the world flight. It carried them "over the hump," the treacherous skyway above the Himalayas which was one of the gravest threats to global aviation during the war.

Only two more stops were scheduled before the bombshell reaches New York, where it started Saturday evening. They were at Tokyo and Anchorage, Alaska.

BEFORE SKIMMING over China, the plane flew across India. It left Calcutta at 5:03 a.m. EST for Shanghai. It had landed at Dum Dum airport at 3:06 a.m. EST for refueling after a flight from Karachi.

Record Budget Surplus Of $550,000,000 Seen

By Dick Jackson
Edmonton Bulletin Ottawa Bureau
OTTAWA, April 14 — Just exactly how Canada ended the fiscal year at the end of last month won't be made known until Finance Minister Abbott brings down the budget, his departmental officials announced today, since the fiscal facts for February and March are being saved for his speech.

ON THE LAST accounting, for 30 months of the year, there was a $364,000,000 surplus, the like of which never previously has been recorded in Canada's fiscal history. Revenues standing at $2,318,000,000 at the opening of the eleventh month were on the rise, and expenditures running $1,954,000,000 were falling.

With record income climbing to new peaks and government spending on the decline, the final 12-month surplus which Mr. Abbott will announce in the budget speech, has been unofficially projected at around $550,000,000.

and navigating the flight, and his crew were running far ahead of the pace set by Howard Hughes in his 1938 record flight. Exact comparison was impossible because the planes took different routes. Reynolds' total elapsed time from New York to Calcutta was 33 hours and 55 minutes. If he continues at that pace, he should circle the globe in about 68 hours. Hughes' record for a route 6,000 miles shorter is 91 hours and 12 minutes.

Hitler Tried Prevent Nazis Surrendering

FRANKFURT, April 14.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler ordered enemy prisoners treated ruthlessly in hopes that reprisals would discourage German soldiers from surrendering, records of a private conversation he held a few months before the war ended disclosed today.

An official transcript of the conversation was discovered by the American Army.

Gen. Alfred Jodl reported to him in March, 1945 about the number of Germans captured on the eastern front.

"Look here, Jodl," Hitler said, "that's the effect of our humane considerations and the Geneva Convention... That is past history."

"That's the most decisive thing, but when I make it clear to everybody that I will give no consideration at all for prisoners-of-war and instead treat prisoners ruthlessly without considering reprisals, many (German) soldiers will think twice before they desert. That's no swindle."

Report Before Council

State City Justified In Using "Fast Time"

If Edmonton does not go on daylight saving time for the period April 27 to Sept. 27, it will be the only major city in Canada which will not be following the plan, city commissioners will report to city council Monday night.

THIS STATEMENT is contained in a report of two surveys made in the city by advertising agencies of business houses and private homes on the instituting of daylight saving time by proclamation. The survey of 100 business houses showed that 69 voted "yes," twenty voted "no," and 31 reserved decision. In a household survey 600 calls were made with 264 or 60.66 per cent answering in the affirmative, and 163, or 27.16 per cent in the negative, while 73, or 12.16 per cent had no opinion.

The commissioners recite briefly the action of the provincial legislature in turning down the city application for a charter amendment to provide for daylight saving for Edmonton, the confirmation of this power to Calgary, and the granting of Drumheller's request for authority to institute daylight saving although no plebiscite had been taken on the matter. A plebiscite was taken in Edmonton last November.

Council Will Study Parking Problem

Edmonton's parking problem and congestion on city streets will be discussed by aldermen at Monday night's city council meeting.

THE CITY COMMISSIONERS are presenting a report on investigations of methods to alleviate the ever-increasing overcrowding in the downtown shopping area, and are suggesting that council give consideration to installation of parking meters.

In their report they state congestion on city streets now is aggravated by having to provide additional space at curbs for the use of trolley coaches and gas buses. The restriction of space for private parking will be still more pronounced when the street car system, with its central loading, is abandoned in the course of the next two years.

Their extensive inquiries, made both in Canada and the United States, revealed that the parking

Howe Sees Great Era For Canada

There's no depression in sight for Canada, and the greatest expansion and building program in the nation's history is just getting underway, Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Dominion minister of reconstruction and in charge of civil aviation, declared in an interview here Monday.

Accompanied by several federal government officials, Mr. Howe arrived over the week-end in a department of transport plane.

He is attending a meeting of the Air Industries Transport Association being held in the Macdonald hotel. He will address a dinner-meeting Monday evening.

Travelling with Mr. Howe are: Air Vice-Marshal Alan Ferrier, MC, member of the federal air transport board; Stewart Graham, superintendent of air regulations for transport board; W. Uren, co-ordinator and controller of construction and Norman Stanley, secretary to the minister.

MR. UREN was to meet Monday with representatives of the timber and lumbering industries at the Masonic Temple.

The meeting was to discuss prices and distribution of lumber products.

Mr. Howe, while optimistic about Canada's general business outlook, admitted that building costs are "too high" in Canada.

"I don't know just what can be done about building costs. Everybody seems to be getting a little bit greedy," the minister said, but added that the supply outlook for the building trades is much

Hope for German Pact Torpedoed

By R. H. SHACKFORD

MOSCOW, April 14.—(BUP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov tonight torpedoed any hope that the Big Four can reach any agreement on a special disarmament pact for Germany by demanding that any such treaty guarantee the Soviets voice in a special regime for the Ruhr.

MOLOTOV DID NOT reject specifically the principle of such a treaty, proposed such drastic amendments—including practically every disagreed issue on Germany—as would make the treaty unrecognizable and totally unacceptable to the United States, Britain or France.

The U.S. draft for such a treaty to keep Germany disarmed for 40 years was designed, when submitted a year ago, as a four-power special military alliance which, through special control and inspection commissions, and allocation of armed forces to act on violation, would prevent German rearmament.

MOLOTOV'S amendments would include such basic ideas in his "redraft" but they would amend the original to death by tossing into it most of the disputed issues which are destined for the German peace treaty.

Rap Conviction British Bride

CALGARY, April 14.—(CP)—The Calgary branch of the Canadian Corps Association Sunday went on record as opposed to the fine levied recently at Bassano against a British war bride of a quarter-breed Blackfoot Indian for illegal possession of liquor under the Indian Act. Because she married Lawrence McHugh, who served overseas with the Canadian Army for six and a half years, the woman automatically became an Indian herself under the act.

A PROTEST LETTER, being forwarded to the Alberta attorney-general's department, reads as follows:

"The Calgary branch registers a strong protest regarding the recent fine imposed upon an English war bride of one of Canada's ex-servicemen, who is an Indian, and we respectfully request that the fine of $25 and costs be remitted." "We also urge the Alberta provincial government to endeavor to have the existing liquor act amended in order to give equal privileges to all those Indians who have served Canada in the armed forces."

SIR EDWIN PLOWDEN

SIR ROBERT SINCLAIR

Chief task of Sir Edwin Plowden, who has been appointed chief planning officer to the United Kingdom government, will be to develop the long-term plan for the use of Britain's manpower and resources. Sir Robert Sinclair will act as Sir Edwin's industrial consultant in the initial stages. Sir Robert was a member of the prime minister's advisory panel of industrialists, appointed in 1939.

Demand Growing For Tomato Juice

HAMILTON, Ont., (CP) — The Canadian palate is demanding an unprecedented quota of tomato juice—more than three times the pre-war average yearly consumption.

Records show that as recently as 1930 only 7,000 cases of tomato juice were packed in the dominion. By 1939 the yearly average had grown to 1,300,000 cases. The 1946 pack according to Canadian manufacturers estimates hit a record of more than 4,000,000 cases. With increased acreage planned for 1947 (and with the blessing of good weather and adequate supplies of labor and materials) the yield and total canning pack may reach new heights.

Tomatoes were first introduced as a palatable and "non-poisonous" food about a century ago. Prior to that time they were considered only fit for a witch's brew; the French once prescribed them as an effective love potion. A woman in Trenton N.J., born in 1833 recalled that when as a child she ate a tomato, her parents rushed her to a doctor, certain she would die.

It was not until 1928 that tomato juice started to become popular—result of the enterprise of a Chicago hotel man who introduced it in the form of spiced juice cocktails. Almost overnight its popularity became nationwide in the United States. Canadian production began to climb simultaneously and by 1936 it had reached the 1,500,000 case mark.

Although the canning of whole tomatoes has shown a decline in volume in recent years (an estimated 1,750,000 cases in 1946 compared to 3,500,000 in 1937) the combined packs of whole tomatoes and juice in Canada last year were enough to provide 12 tins for every man woman and child in the country.

South African Is Cosmopolitan

PAARL, South Africa, (CP) — A young man from East London who arrived recently at Paarl, was born in a Hindu temple, and was married to an Afrikaans-speaking girl in an English church by a Jewish minister who had adopted the Christian faith. The Hindu temple where he was born is in East London. His mother was taken into the building when she suddenly became ill and was realized she would not reach a maternity home in time.

The young man's father is English, with Irish blood in his veins. His mother is also English—with French blood in her veins. His wife's ancestors were Scottish.

Prefers Prison Monastery Life

BRISTOL, England (CP)—Metal-worker Walter Joseph Martin, 27, preferred prison life to life in a monastery—so the judge sent him to hard labor for 18 months.

Earlier when Martin pleaded guilty to sending two letters threatening to murder another Bristol man, the judge bound him over for three years on condition he went to a Franciscan monastery at Cerne Abbas, Dorset.

"I couldn't stand the place," Martin said when he appeared in the dock a second time. "I couldn't stand the atmosphere at all."

A Surprising Record

In their ten years of operation Trans-Canada Airlines have carried about a million and a quarter passengers, and twenty times as many pounds of mail and express matter.

The war, of course, contributed in large measure to these traffic totals. But the seats in the planes are still well filled, new services are being started, and there is a prospect that all first-class mail will soon be carried by air.

It is curious now to think that there were head-shakings all across Canada when this service was launched ten years ago. Would enough people want to travel by plane and send letters and parcels by plane, to pay expenses? Plenty of people thought not. Some of them said Hon. C. D. Howe was "crazy" to imagine there would be enough business to keep the Airlines out of the red; the whole project would crash and the loss have to be written off as the price of experience.

Edmonton is one of the focal points on this cross-Canada system. When, later this month, T.C.A. planes start flying the Atlantic, this city will have direct air service to and from England. When the Saskatoon airport is completed, a matter of weeks, Edmonton will be the terminus of a straight-line service to Winnipeg and Eastern Canada. The success of T.C.A. is thus closely linked with Edmonton business, and of interest to Edmonton people.

Doing Its' Job

Tornado is a word of Spanish origin which is used alternatively to describe a storm perhaps better known as a cyclone. It moves forward at a relatively low rate of speed but whirls with tremendous velocity.

The "twister" which tore through the Panhandle last week must rank among the most severe ever recorded in the southern-central region that is the seasonal breeding-ground of such disturbances. At least thirty, perhaps forty, more people were killed than in the mine disaster at Centralia. More than a thousand were injured. The property damage was enormous. Fortunately the storm did not reach any large centre of population, Woodward, the town hardest hit, having a population of six or seven thousand.

No part of Canada is subject to storms of comparable violence. This should help to reconcile Canadians to the minor climatic discomforts we are so prone to complain about. There are a lot of people living in tents along the Texas-Oklahoma border just now who can better appreciate our good fortune.

The Red Cross moved in on the heels of the storm, set up first aid stations, distributed medical supplies and food, bandaged the injured and sent them to hospitals, helped in collecting the dead and comforting the bereaved. Those who contributed to the funds of this organization in the recent campaign—whether in the United States or in Canada—will feel better now for having done so.

That is the kind of service on which the Red Cross spends its money—in both countries. Given a similar situation in Canada, the Canadian branch of the organization would do what the United States branch is now doing. It should never lack funds in either country.

The Deadlock at Moscow

There is a brightening prospect that Canada and other second-rank and smaller Allied powers will yet have a chance to fully and effectively present their views as to the terms and conditions to be written into the treaty of peace with Germany. That, in fact, is now almost inevitable.

The Big Four have failed to reach agreement on a number of cardinal points. The discussions at Moscow have only served to define and emphasize their disagreement on such vital matters as the German-Polish border, reparations, and the type of federal constitution with which Germany is to be entrusted.

The lesser Allies cannot regard this failure as wholly unfortunate. It almost certainly means that no treaty will be drawn up for another year. In the meantime the General Assembly of the United Nations will meet in regular session. There, Canada and the other lesser states will have the opportunity to present their views—and to bid for directive action on the part of the Assembly in setting the lines which the Big Four foreign ministers should follow when they meet again.

These are the men who will finally write the treaty. That has not been brought into question. But they are deadlocked, and there is only one authority to which they can appeal to break the deadlock—the Assembly. The outlook therefore is that the treaty-making will have to start all over again—with a full discussion of the subject in that completely representative body. This will give the lesser Allied countries the chance they are asking for, to say what they think should be basic terms of settlement.

So This Is Democracy

No wonder the British Commonwealth is an enigma to authoritarian states. The mother country herself is the most tantalizing puzzle of them all.

The case at present in point is this: after devoting six years, billions in money and millions in lives to a war to drive Nazism, alias Fascism, from the earth, the leader of pre-war British Fascism, Sir Oswald Mosley, is now seen elbowing his way to the front again.

So far as is known, his British Union of Fascists is quiescent if not dead—under that name. Also quiescent is the Right Club, which once enjoyed the membership of the late William Joyce—Lord Haw-Haw of evil memory.

But Captain A. H. M. Ramsey, once the club's president, only last year organized a rally of former internees, mostly ex-fascists. And the Duke of Bedford has brought his British People's Party to life again with between three and four hundred former members of Mosley's Fascist Union. As secretary of the party the Duke of Bedford appointed Mr. John Beckett, significantly because "his experience in political and electoral organization, and his conduct during three and a half years in prison will, I am sure, have commended him to us all."

The British Protestant League has the Roman Catholic church as its special target, but its technique is reminiscent of the former Scottish Fascist Democratic party of which the League's president, Alexander Ratcliff, was president. Similar in pattern are the League of Ex-Servicemen and Women and the British Vigilantes League.

More dangerous is thought to be an emerging movement so far unknown by any name, but enjoying the support of influential men who give the movement some semblance of innocence by the very fact that their names have never before been identified with political extremes.

In Bucharest a black market merchant was publicly paraded through the street labelled with a description of his offence. Excellent idea! And like the late W. S. Gilbert we've got a little list. It will include all traffic offenders, drunk or sober, the nocturnal street vocalist, the parents of small boys who push old women out of their way and others who will occur to us as time goes on.

THE TIMID SOUL

Postal Rates Too High

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

What turned out to be one of the last of Henry Ford's many beneficent acts was to set a good example to all manufacturers by cutting the prices of his cars. There are many other big concerns which could and should follow suit.

The Canadian government has set a very bad example in this respect, as has the Trans-Canada Airways. Why the TCA should raise its rates when they are already above the United States level is a mystery—unless the railroads have once again been pulling strings behind the scenes.

But take the matter of the lowly letter. How come that, long after the war is over, the post office is being made to carry a load it was never designed to carry—namely, that of raising tax revenue not for itself but for the general national treasury?

HERE IS A comparison of Canadian and U.S. postal rates which ought to make Canadians really mad:

Postcards	U.S.	1 cent
	Canada	3 cents
Letters	U.S.	3 cents
	Canada	4 cents
Airmail	U.S.	5 cents
	Canada	7 cents
Parcels to England	U.S.	14c lb.
	Canada	24c lb.

I would think that this rate-cutting principle was good business. But how is it they are not applying it on land over Canada? THE DIFFERENCE in the rates are even more glaring when we remember that right across the board U.S. postal service pay rates are higher than those in Canada.

I would hate to print a full schedule of differences in the two countries. Some would think I was washing dirty Canadian linen in too plain sight. Suffice it to say that everybody in the postal service in the States—from the Postmaster-General down to the pavement pounder or rural mail man—gets far more below the border.

Yet our government in Canada has the gall to go on charging us almost double what the service really costs.

THE RATE SHUFFLE on the TCA can only be explained because they are operating on "what the traffic will bear." The rates on trans-ocean air travel have just been substantially cut. Those over land have just been substantially raised.

Nobody expects us to believe that it is suddenly costing more to fly planes over land—while at the same time it is suddenly costing less to fly them over the ocean.

The real reason for ocean rates cuts is that more and more people are going back to the luxury liners, like the Queen Mary. The planes have to offer some extra inducement to get the people to travel by air.

I would think that this rate-cutting principle was good business. But how is it they are not applying it on land over Canada?

I OFTEN LAUGH to myself over the great world argument, capitalism versus socialism.

The truth is that capitalism is menaced far more by capitalists from within capitalism itself than it is from without—that is, from socialists who are against it on theoretical lines.

The plain truth is that most capitalists do not really believe in the system of which they boast—and are the chief beneficiaries. The theory of capitalism is that it flourishes in freedom, needs no other control than the operation of the law of supply and demand, and thrives best on free-for-all competition.

We hear "competition is the life of trade." But who ever saw a typical capitalist shed any tears when his competitor went out of business? Who ever saw a street car company that would consent to ordinary citizens setting themselves up in competition to it—using their cars in off-work hours?

It is the capitalists—far more than the general population—who have clamored for high tariff walls—controls that would protect their positions and profits.

Actions speak louder than words.

According to Need

BY HARPER PROWSE, MLA

I think that most people in Canada will agree that any policy on housing should have the ultimate objective of providing a decent and satisfactory home for every Canadian family. Obviously that must be a long term objective and in order to reach it we must have a plan which will enable us to move step by step closer to our goal.

Where we cannot do it all at once I believe it advisable to do the most important things first. And the most important thing is to provide shelter for everyone. Then, with a minimum of delay or wasted effort, we must start to provide permanent homes for those whose need is the greatest. And, I would suggest that those whose need is the greatest are those who are suffering the most—in other words, those who are at the present living in temporary shelter accommodation and in overcrowded, inadequate and insanitary lodgings. We should try to meet the demands of those whose needs are the most serious before we attempt to permit those who are now living under satisfactory conditions to satisfy their demands for better accommodation.

THE FACTS facing us are these—the present cost of housing is so high that it is impossible for those who are living under the worst conditions—that is those in the lower income brackets—to build homes for themselves, and it is likewise impossible for private enterprise to provide them with homes for rent at prices within their reach. Under these circumstances it seems to me that the only solution to the problem presented by these conditions lies in following the lead of Britain and other countries in making this the field for government activity and assistance.

Britain has met this problem by prohibiting the building of any homes which cost more than a fixed amount—their figure is in the neighborhood of $5,500. In Canada our need is for homes which will rent for less than $20 per month. The Veterans Land Act, by absorbing 25 percent of construction costs, amortizing payments over 25 years, and charging 3 1/2 percent interest, is approaching this figure. No other government agency is. The reason for this, in my opinion, is that the government agencies are competing in a higher bracket field against private enterprise where they have no right to be and where they are not serving as useful a purpose as they could if they would get down where they properly belong.

Of all the government agencies the only one which is concerned with supplying homes to the lower income groups is Wartime Housing—but they are still charging rents which are beyond the sound economic reach of the people who really need homes and even at that they are not building nearly enough houses.

WE COULD do much to ease this situation if the government would use all the facilities at their disposal and all the money they have set aside for housing for the sole purpose of providing homes for those whose need is the greatest. If this were done then I feel that within a year or two we would have improved the situation sufficiently to permit the resumption of semi-luxury and luxury building—which is where the bulk of our materials and labor are being used up at the present time.

Working newspapermen know that newspapers have faults; often print things which they know to be shoddy. But working newspapermen also know that if they got out the sort of newspaper that university professors and philosophers and poets think they should get out it would be the sort of newspaper that would fold up and die.

And working newspapermen don't take too seriously the people who are forever telling them they should give more space in their papers to long political speeches and pieces on science and religion and economics. They don't take them seriously because they know that such people somehow don't subscribe in any large numbers for or support the journals that go in for such things.

In ancient China, when a guest entered a home he was given a leather glove as a symbol of welcome.

Halifax Herald

When a delegation from the Canadian Congress of Labor presented their organization's brief to the government recently, Reconstruction Minister Howe offered some comments on the housing situation which comprise his best statement on that subject to date.

Mr. Howe said that the housing problem is the toughest he has ever faced. He said, also, that progress has not been as substantial as expected.

Neither of those statements can be termed encouraging, but they have more realism about them than many of his previous statements on housing and that, at least, is something. There have been too many statements in the past from Mr. Howe and others which suggested that the housing problem was well in hand and that it could be solved without too much difficulty.

people here to continue espionage without his help."

(LIEUT. - COL. Motinow, former assistant military attaché for air in the Russian Embassy section headed by Col. Nikolai Zabolit, was named in the Royal Commission report on espionage as one of the Russian agents in Canada. He was one of the members of the Embassy who was recalled to Russia shortly after the spy investigation was announced, but his present whereabouts is not known here.)

Best sources as spies in Canada in the view of Soviet leaders, Gouzenko claims, are: "secret or open members of the Communist party in Canada who are required to carry out orders given by Moscow" and "crooks in need of money, who by some chance happen to be in positions where they can obtain information." He asserts that "Isidor Sam Carr nor Fred Rose were recruited in Canada; they were trained by Moscow for the job and sent to this country."

Gouzenko says that diplomatic representatives of states under Moscow's control "are also suspected of espionage activities in Canada and that this camouflages the activity of Soviet agents."

HE DECLARED also that Soviet espionage in Canada is paid for out of the nation's money without the knowledge of the Russian people, and that "in some instances the Canadian people themselves unknowingly paid the Soviet agents," asserting that money collected for the Canadian Aid to Russia Fund went to the "not-so-poor Soviet agents—with one hand the Soviet government receives money from the Canadian people while on the other hand it pays out secretly thousands of dollars to its agents in Canada."

Turning to ideological matters, Gouzenko asserts that while the Russian people do not want war ever again, the Soviet government wants peace only temporarily for the purpose of gathering strength for a third world war.

HE DECLARES "It is possible to forestall a war only if the democracies are strong enough to block Soviet aggression."

HE URGES Canadian fortification of the Arctic in co-operation with the United States, and says on the question of what Canada's general policy should be with regard to Russia.

"Strict reciprocity in everything. For each Soviet consulate or representative in Canada, there should be a corresponding Canadian consulate or representative in the Soviet Union. Every speech delivered by a Soviet diplomatic, or non-diplomatic representative, must be balanced by a speech by a Canadian representative in the Soviet Union, before a Soviet audience stating the achievements and advantages of democracy. Permission for Soviet representatives to visit military and other institutions and establishments must be given by the Canadian authorities only after corresponding permits have been obtained for Canadians in the Soviet Union."

"THE CANADIAN government should bear in mind that when it is dealing with the Soviet government it is dealing with a small group of people who do not represent the Russian people and who do not consider themselves responsible to the Russian people."

"Stand up and be Counted," will be the subject of an address by A. Gordon Nairn, executive vice-president, Life Underwriters Association of Canada. Fernand de Haerne, Dominion president, also will speak.

better than it was at this time last year. THE DOMINION government has set 80,000 housing units as the construction objective in 1947. There were 62,500 completed last year.

It is hoped to have 1,500 dwelling units completed in Edmonton this year. This figure includes all housing, government-sponsored and private construction.

Construction of runways at Saskatoon is holding up inauguration of Trans-Canada Air Lines service direct from Edmonton to Winnipeg.

"THE WEATHER is holding up completion of the Saskatoon airport but the Edmonton-Winnipeg service should be in operation not later than July 1," he said.

Mr. Howe said the government has given consideration to having all first class mail go by air lines but nothing definite has as yet been decided.

The Edmonton-Winnipeg service, probably within the next two years, will be extended to Vancouver. That will take place when sufficient four-motored aircraft are available, the minister said.

TCA NOW has six of these planes of the North Star type and 14 more are on order. They will be used first on Trans-Atlantic and coast-to-coast service on the main line.

Edmonton is a most important world aviation centre with a fine direct route to the Orient through this city, Mr. Howe observed.

ASKED IF Northwest Airlines would be given passenger traffic rights here, the minister said this was uncertain.

"If we were to give a U.S. airline passenger traffic rights here it would take business away from the Canadian Pacific Air Lines operating to the north and from TCA's operation to New York," he said.

However, this matter is one for international agreement, he added.

This is Mr. Howe's first visit to Edmonton in seven years. He will leave for Ottawa after his evening speech.

BESIDE THE surveys, the commissioners have a communication from the Rotary Club stating its board of directors unanimously passed a resolution favoring the proclamation, and the Kinmen Club by a vote of 98 to 6 also favored the proclamation. Four or five letters from private individuals objecting to the proclamation have been received.

The commissioners state that in view of the fact that the citizens voted on this matter in the plebiscite and carried it, council would be justified in authorizing the proclamation to give the people of Edmonton a chance to try out "summer time" for this year. They point out that the mayor of Toronto, in spite of the fact that there is no authority in that city's charter, yearly issues a proclamation.

Hawaii—Candidate for Statehood

This and the following articles are taken from the Book of Knowledge and can be clipped for saving in a reference book.

The Hawaiian Islands (Commonly called Hawaii, the name of the largest island) were annexed to the United States at the request of the inhabitants in July, 1898. Nine are inhabited, and there are eleven smaller islands on which no people live.

All the islands taken together are not large. They are larger than the state of Connecticut but not so large as Massachusetts. As we have said, the largest is Hawaii, but Oahu, which contains Honolulu, the chief city, has more people. Honolulu itself had about 200,000 inhabitants in 1941. The estimated population of the whole territory in 1945 was over 500,000.

These islands were made, the geologists tell us, by volcanoes which pushed up from the sea bottom and poured out their lava. This crumbling lava makes a rich soil, and since there is much rain, everything grows as if touched by magic.

Some of the volcanoes are not dead. Kilauea, on the island of Hawaii is the largest active volcano in the world. The crater is about 9 miles around, and in the center is a lake of melted lava which rises and falls as water in a reservoir. At night this red-hot, quivering mass is one of the most wonderful sights to be seen anywhere.

These islands had been discovered by Spanish navigators before the year 1550, but little notice was taken of them until Capt. James Cook, the famous British explorer, visited them in 1778. He called them the Sandwich Islands in honor of the Earl of Sandwich. On his second visit, he quarreled with the natives who killed him. Another British explorer, George Vancouver, who also explored British Columbia, brought some cattle to the islands a few years later, and taught the people how to build boats.

American missionaries went to the islands in 1820, and soon the leading natives, who belong to the brown race, called themselves Christians, though many of the people still followed their heathen gods.

The old family died out, and Kamehameha was elected king in 1814. He was a very bad ruler, and tried to take away the liberties of the people. On his death, in 1819, his sister Liliuokalani tried to follow in his footsteps.

By this time there were many white people on the islands. They put the Queen off the throne in 1893, declared themselves under the protection of the United States and asked to be joined to that country. This was not allowed at the time, but they governed themselves as a republic. At last, in 1898, the islands were joined to the United States and are now governed as a territory. They have a delegate in Congress who may speak but has no vote.

In 1940, the people voted in favor of changing from a territory to a state. A bill to bring this about is now before Congress.

Since the islands were annexed, their wealth has increased. The principal crops are sugar-cane and pineapples. Rice, coffee, hemp, tobacco and bananas also are grown for export.

The population is very much mixed. Aside from the white population, which has been increasing, there are those of Hawaiian and part-Hawaiian blood, those of Japanese ancestry, and also Chinese, Filipinos and Koreans. The whites are of many nationalities, but there are more of American birth or descent than of any other. People born on the islands, regardless of ancestry, are American citizens.

Parking

which people desire to do their shopping."

They report a survey of the downtown section does not hold out much prospect for increasing off-street parking sites.

Dealing with parking meters as a solution for street parking problems, the commissioners report that results obtained from meters in Canadian and United States cities are at variance with the suggestion of those opposing their installation here that they will not relieve the situation.

The commissioners are submitting to council the statements of civic officials of Canadian and United States cities in which parking meters have been installed, and all agree that merchants and the general public have found them a decided advantage.

THEY ALSO ARE submitting a statement from the Municipal Finance Officers Association "that motorists like parking meters because they find that it's easier to get parking space in crowded streets. They feel that with meters the available space is equally distributed, and that they do not have to compete for space with all-day parkers."

"The merchants like meters because their customers like them, and because they get increased carry home trade which reduced delivery costs. The taxpayers like them because they contribute to the city's coffers and help keep the tax rate down."

The commissioners suggest the whole question is of sufficient importance to be referred to a committee of the whole council at a special meeting where arguments for and against installation can be heard.

IN CASE OF favorable consideration they are prepared to make a definite recommendation as to make and type of meter, the number to be installed, and the various locations.

All manufacturers competing for this business do so on the basis of installing the meters at their own expense, and receiving payment over a period of time up to 12 months by means of a given percentage of receipts, generally 75 per cent, after which the total revenue would accrue to the city. All contracts call for the removal of meters at any time in the interval upon the request of the municipality, and at the expense of the company installing, the commissioners report.

Position of CPR "Not Improved"

OTTAWA, April 14 (CP)—Though the Canadian Pacific Railway cut its debt by $100,000,000 since 1935, its position has not been improved, L. B. Unwin, Canadian Pacific Railway vice-president for finance, told the Board of Transport Commissioners today.

TESTIFYING on behalf of the railways' application for increased freight rates, Mr. Unwin declared betterment in the company position between 1935 and the present "pales into insignificance" beside added cost burdens placed on the company.

Increased costs of wages and materials, he said, were amounting to $36,000,000 a year more than before the war. This was equal to four per cent interest on $1,400,000,000.

HAROLD DEAN, Sports Editor

STAMPEDERS PLAYED SOME TERRIBLE hockey Saturday night and Winnipeg Flyers were much improved over their showing in the first game of the Western final, as the curtain dropped on the seniors for the season so far as Calgary's arena is concerned.

Having watched the Stamps during many games in the last two years, it was hard to believe they could be quite so bad as they were on occasions in the first two periods. They were off in their timing and too often tried to pass instead of shooting when close in.

Perhaps the scrambling, chase-the-puck hockey played by the Winnipeggers upset the Calgaryans. In any event the Flyers put plenty of zest into their work as they skated all over the ice, although seldom attempting anything more than two-man forays. The Manitoba outplayed the home club in the first period and held them on just about even terms in the second, but the Stamps had a very pronounced edge in the third.

McCrae Apparently Out

DON MCRAE WAS NOT DRESSED for the game and it seems fairly obvious he'll be out for the rest of the season. Coach Art Barnett, who missed the first, flew up with Clint Albright for the second.

Albright scored the first goal and teamed up well with Raleigh. Flyers came close to being two up seconds after Clint's tally, when Raleigh and Fabro got away on a break with nobody to beat but Dertell. Raleigh muffed the chance by passing too late and Fabro couldn't get a shot away. Flyers outshot Calgary eight to seven in the period.

The Manitoba went ahead 2-0 on their first shot in the second period, and it was immediately following this goal Stampeders started to smarten up. They poured four shots on Bunney Nicholson in less than a minute. Flyers came back late in the period, but Stamps outshot them eight to seven, merely reversing the figures for the close initial session.

Stampeders Should Win

STAMPS HELD A 10 TO 7 MARGIN on shots in the third, but a much wider advantage on the actual play, Calgary got two tough breaks on bad calls by Referee Jimmy Creighton. The first, an offside whistle midway in the period, robbed Hunter of a chance to walk right in and clearly was a mistake. The second, also for a non-existent offside, gummed up another promising opportunity.

Stampeders did everything but score in the closing minutes. Joe Fisher was a passenger most of the time and not nearly so effective as Tony Desmarais, whom he usually replaced. Shoquist wasn't used. Emery pairing up with Craddock in one set of defence-men, and looking rather helpless most of the time.

Calgary should beat the Winnipeg club handily, but it remains to be seen how the Stampeders will react to an ice surface 76 feet wide, or 7½ narrower as well as several feet shorter than their own arena. Stamps, however, have had good results on all outside rinks this season, with the exception of the Edmonton arena.

On "Foreign" Ice Tonight

TONIGHT'S GAME MARKS THE FIRST TIME Stampeders shall have played on ice outside their own league this season and here they are with two of the best-of-five Western final already disposed of.

Last year Calgary went right through, including the Allan Cup final series, with only one game on "strange" ice, that being the first inter-provincial clash with Smoke Eaters played at Trail on April 3 and which ended in a 1-1 tie. All other games in the Western playdowns and the Canadian final round taking place at Calgary, Regina, Saskatoon and Edmonton, the four WCHL cities.

Winnipeg Flyers are reputed to be functioning on a co-operative basis, with not a single player drawing any salary and all willing to take chances on a split of the profits. The latter, according to a reliable source, amounted to only $2,200 at the end of the league schedule.

Edmonton Students Drop Calgary Series

CALGARY, April 14 (CP)— Central High won the mythical Alberta school championship when they defeated St. Joseph's of Edmonton 13-11 in a two-game total goal playoff.

Edmonton copped the opening fixture Friday night by a 6-5 count, but Central came back strong in the second game Saturday afternoon to win 8-5 and take the round by a two goal margin.

Central held a big advantage in the first two periods when they held a 4-2 advantage at the end of the opening canto and were leading 7-3 when the final whistle went in the sand-wich session. In the final frame, St. Joseph's replaced their goal-tender, MacDougall with Randolph and backed by some stout net-mending, outscored Central 2 to 1.

IN THE DYING minutes of the third period, St. Joe's were threatening strongly to tie the count, but Oughton scored at the 19-minute mark to sew up the verdict for Calgary.

Gilhooley and Moore paced the Central's attack with two goals each, the others going to Rutter, B. MacDonald, Loughheed and Oughton. Edmonton scoring was well divided with McNally, MacDonald,

Pickard Making Statement Today On Junior Game

REGINA, April 14 (CP)— Al Pickard, vice-president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, announced last night that the second game of the Memorial Cup hockey finals between Moose Jaw Canucks and Toronto St. Michaels will be played at Moose Jaw next Thursday and the third game at Regina next Saturday.

Local of the remainder of the best-of-seven series, which opens at Winnipeg Tuesday, will be announced later.

Mr. Pickard said he expected to make an announcement today regarding the request of Edmonton Exhibition Association that one Junior final game be played at Edmonton.

Dr. W. G. Hardy confirmed the fact here Sunday night that "negotiations are proceeding." He said too that "also being a good junior hockey centre, gives Edmonton a strong claim to a game if Winnipeg gets one."

TORONTO, April 14 (CP)— One of the first things that Joe Primeau, coach of Toronto St. Michael's College Majors, will do when he checks the Eastern junior hockey champions into Winnipeg today, is review playoff dates with Moose Jaw Canucks in the Memorial Cup final.

Primeau doesn't look with favor on an application from the Edmonton Exhibition Association to stage one of the series contests, because he doesn't want the Irish "to be any part of a travelling circus."

EQUALLY ADAMANT against the Edmonton game is OHA president George Parker, who is opposed to any part of the Memorial final being contested in the West.

"It only serves a minority interest," said Parker, travelling with the OHA champions. "The teams and players all want to travel East and play in Maple Leaf Gardens (Toronto). They benefit financially by such an agreement. The participating clubs stand to lose $25,000 by having the finals in the West this year."

PIRATES RELEASE infilder Handley yesterday by general manager Roy Hamey of Pittsburgh Pirates.

The player immediately put in long distance call to ask Herb Pennock of Philadelphia Phillies for a job.

Asked by the operator if the call was urgent, Handley replied, "I don't know whether you will call it urgent, but it means $12,000 to me."

Handley was permitted to make the call. He said he got the job, but he did not disclose whether it was for $12,000.

Still No Comment From Leo Durocher
LOS ANGELES, April 14 (AP)—Leo (The Claim) Durocher, arrived from New York yesterday.

There was a misunderstanding about his arrival time and nobody but early-bird reporters and photographers was on hand to meet him. He said he got in an hour before he had told his actress-wife, Laraine Day, to expect him at municipal airport.

His only comment was still "no comment" regarding his suspension for 1947 as the manager of Brooklyn Dodgers.

Rookie Lynn Fires Winner for Toronto

By William H. Dumsday

TORONTO, April 14 (CP)— His left eye bloodshot and almost closed from punishment absorbed in their previous clash, rookie Vic Lynn fired the deciding goal Saturday night as Toronto Maple Leafs moved in front of Montreal Canadiens on a 4-2 victory as the teams battle for hockey's world title.

While the defending champions went down to defeat in the third game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final series, the man responsible for Lynn's damaged optic—Maurice (Rocket) Richard—watched from the sidelines, under a one-game suspension.

The NHL goal-scoring champion, banished for slashing recklessly with his stick when the Leafs ended the round at a win each in Montreal last Thursday, will be in uniform for the fourth game here Tuesday.

AFTER KEN REARDON had checked Howie Meeker in the second period, Lynn's good eye spotted the loose puck. The 22-year-old Saskatoon winger was off balance and as the puck sailed across Goalie Bill Durnan's chest into the far upper corner, he fell on his face.

A crowd of 14,545 cheered the game youngster, playing with stitches through his eyebrow, so justly that loudspeaker announcement of his effort could not be heard.

LYNN'S MARKER put the Leafs three goals up but 11 seconds later the Canadiens moved into the picture. Before the session was over the champions were only one goal down.

Toronto Cagers Likely To Operate

TORONTO, April 12 (CP)— The Toronto Huskies basketball team which this winter provided Toronto with its first major league basketball in the Basketball Association of America loop is almost certain to operate again next season, despite poor attendance here, said Harold Shannon, club vice-president, last night.

The Huskies finished out of playoff contention, starting the season with Ed Sadowski as coach and finishing with coach Red Rolfe, former baseball star of the New York Yankees.

Shannon said Rolfe definitely would coach the team again next year.

Moose Jaw Club Beats Elks 6-4 In Final Game

REGINA, April 14 (CP)—

Scrappy Moose Jaw Canucks punched through from behind Saturday night to down Brandon Elks 6-4 for the Western Canada junior title and the right to meet Toronto St. Mike's, for Dominion supremacy.

The best-of-seven Memorial Cup final will start Tuesday night at Winnipeg.

CANUCKS, WHO WON the last three games of the series after winning only one and tying one of the first five, trailed 2-0 at the end of the first period, but were sparked through victory by Ivan Wilson, star second string left winger, who scored two goals and one assist, including the tally that proved the winner.

Elks set the pace in the first period, taking a 2-0 lead on scoring by Bud Evans, who scored one in the second and third periods as well, and by Bill Johnson who also assisted Evans first goal.

JOHNSON BECAME a casualty, tripping over goalie Bev Bentley, and breaking his right collar-bone as he smashed into the boards after pushing the puck home.

Goals by Vic Krekewetz, Wilson and Harvey Stein gave Canucks a short-lived lead in the second period, but Evans came through at 17:38 to tie the score up again at 2-2.

THE PELL-MELL pace continued at the start of the final session with Metro Crystal pushing Canucks into the lead on a pass from Jim Bedard. Evans tied the score again six minutes later. Wilson picked up the winning goal on a pass from Hunchuk from about 20 feet out, and Krekewetz cinched the game with four seconds to go on a break-away to bulge an empty net, while the Elks played six forwards.

More than 6,000 fans watched the game.

Close-Checking Flyers Stop Stampeders 2-1

By Lorne Bruce

CALGARY, April 14 (CP)— Speed and fight gave Winnipeg Flyers an upset 2-1 victory over Calgary Stampeders here Saturday night and squared the Western Canada senior hockey final at one victory apiece. The third game of the best-of-five series will be played in Winnipeg Monday night.

The injury-riddled Flyers, rebounding from a 10-3 loss in the first game, stunned a Calgary crowd of about 5,000 fans as they outskated Stampeders and checked doggedly for 60 minutes. The constant covering of all Calgary attackers never gave Stampeders a chance to open up with their check-boarding passing plays.

FLYERS, playing without Don McEae who suffered a broken wrist in the first game but strengthened with the addition of Clint Albright, grabbed 10-0 lead in the first period when Albright counted at the three-quarter mark on a 25-foot screened shot after taking Sam Fabro's pass.

Don Raleigh, Winnipeg's Pony Express, shot Flyers into a 2-0 lead with the only goal of the second period on another play set up by Fabro. Centreman Raleigh shook off two Calgary backcheckers and went in close before beating Russ Dertell with a rising shot.

CALGARY'S LONE counter came in the third period when winger Tony Desmarais slammed the puck past Bun Nicholson from 15 feet out while the Winnipeg goaler was out of position during a Stampeders power play.

Coach Jack Arbour of Stampeders, Canadian champions last year, pulled Dertell for the last minute and used six forwards. Although Calgary kept the puck bouncing around the Flyer net for almost the full 60 seconds, the Winnipeg checkers hung on stubbornly to prevent a tying goal.

WINNIPEG—Nicholson, Sykes, Subers, Fabro, Albright, Raleigh, Sube, Telencoe, Craig, Bell, MacDonald, Kernahan, O'Connor, Korneel, Craddock, Desmarais, Emery, French.

OFFICIALS—Ike Morrison, Moose Jaw, Sask., and Jimmy Creighton, Brandon, Man.

FIRST PERIOD: 1—Winnipeg, Albright (Fabro) 15:28, penalties—none.

SECOND PERIOD: 2—Winnipeg, Raleigh (Fabro) 4:39, penalty—Kernahan 18:29.

THIRD PERIOD: 3—Calgary, Desmarais (Cairns-Wilder) 6:31, penalty—Michaluk.

Still No Comment From Leo Durocher

LOS ANGELES, April 14 (AP)—Leo (The Claim) Durocher, arrived from New York yesterday.

There was a misunderstanding about his arrival time and nobody but early-bird reporters and photographers was on hand to meet him. He said he got in an hour before he had told his actress-wife, Laraine Day, to expect him at municipal airport.

His only comment was still "no comment" regarding his suspension for 1947 as the manager of Brooklyn Dodgers.

Our Town

By Jack Scott

Four Walls

I'd never make a travelling man. I have a strong tendency to go stir-crazy in hotel rooms. Even a room with as pleasant a vista as this one. Forever phoning up room service to hear the sound of a human voice.

A man alone in a hotel room has a perverse interest in the sounds that come from adjoining rooms. A muffled conversation has been going on in the chambers next to me for the last three hours and I have been walking restlessly around, head cocked alertly to one side. What possible subject could occupy such continuous attention? Why do I care?

I suppose this unrest originates with the deadly tidiness and efficiency of the hotel room, the drawers of the bureau empty, the ash trays spotless, the two glasses tipped on end on the tray, the white towels hanging immaculate on their racks in the marble bathroom. Even with the most comfortable and thoughtfully furnished room it seems impossible to get a home-like quality. It either looks as tidy as an operating room or unbelievably messy.

Restlessness

Forced to remain in this room for any considerable time, as I have been, waiting for a phone message, a man's restlessness becomes acute. I always seem to end up thumbing dully through the pages of the telephone book or reading the Hotelmen's Act, neatly placed under the glass of the bureau-top.

Hotel room bathrooms have the most wonderful acoustic effects of any place in the world. I suppose this explains why travelling men, though gloomy, are invariably gleaming.

Success

Column-writing is not all headaches. It just seems that way. Sometimes, the law of averages being what it is, columnists strike such a responsive chord in certain readers that they send gifts. Most columnists have experienced this form of flattery at one time or another, and after listening carefully to see if the package is ticking, find strange and wonderful items.

My own career has produced a blackberry pie, somewhat damaged in transit; a wonderful sampler for The Kid with the prayer which begins, "Gentle Jesus, meek and mild..." (sent to me in 1940 and still over her bed); a carton of Bromo Seltzer, a bottle of Haig's Dimple, and other varied gifts.

All this is just leading up to the fact that this week came the highest possible tribute from a reader: Can of Crisco.

Footnote

My typewriter, Emma, is in having her face lifted, and so this is being written with a fountain pen. This pen, according to an engraved, parchment diploma which came with it, can be used at extremely high altitudes in airplanes, will survive a drop from the Empire State Building and writes effectively under water.

At ground level on a card table it just looks like any other pen, and will, I suppose, until I can afford a stratoliner or diving bell.

LE DUC NO. 2 WELL Now At 4,893
The Imperial Oil Company's regular report on drilling progress at the Leduc oil fields, south of Edmonton, discloses that the company's number two well is down to a depth of 4,893 feet. Number four is just over 3,503 feet.

THE NUMBER ONE well, which has been producing for some time, has been "shut in" because of lack of storage. Since the spring road bans became effective, the well's production has been stored at the site and storage tanks are brimming full.

The number one well came in at five thousand feet. Company officials estimate that with 200 more feet to go, it will be another two or three weeks before the number two well produces.

They also disclose that the "mud-kick well," 72-miles northwest of Entrance, Alberta, has been "spudded in."

Best Choice Depends On the Individual

A young man who is contemplating matrimony desires to know which is the better risk, the home girl or the business girl as a wife. That is one of the questions that no one can answer right off the bat, marriage being a chancy thing at best and getting chancier every day, and girls being kilt!—cattle to deal with, in or out of marriage.

Both the home girl and the business girl have their points as wives, and before a youth takes that fatal trip to the altar from which there is no return except via the divorce court or death, he does well to consider them carefully and prayerfully.

INASMUCH as most men marry for a home, it would seem that the domestic girl was a man's best bet. You can fancy the lad who is practically starving for honest-to-God home cooking and whose nerves are worn to a frazzle trying to keep up with his shirts and his collars, and who wishes that he might never see the inside of another restaurant or boarding house, as looking upon any girl who feeds him on cake that she says she made with her own hands, as an angel sent from Heaven for his deliverance.

"Ha!" he says to himself. "Am I not the lucky guy? Here is just the thing I want in a wife, a girl who is untouched by the career craze, who knows all about cooking and loves to do it, and who will be content to stay at home and make me comfortable."

But, alas, things don't always work out that way in marriage. Often the home girl is sick and tired of home and is just pining to get out in the bright lights. Maybe she has an allergy to the kitchen and when she walks out of it when she gets married, she never goes back into it again. Maybe Mother never taught her anything about cooking. And maybe she will never be so happy until she gets a shoppe. You never can tell what sort of a wife a girl will make until it is too late to do any good. So that's that.

ON THE OTHER hand, any matrimonial prophet would feel perfectly safe in picking out the business girl as the ideal wife. She has all the qualifications. She is fitted to be a man's companion because she knows the business world and speaks his tongue, and they could have lovely evenings together discussing the stock market and the crankiness of employers etc.

She would know how to take care of money because she has worked for it and knows that every dollar is stained with sweat and blood. She would never gripe about his never coming home on time for dinner, and she wouldn't expect a tired business man, whose feet hurt, to want to dress up and go play bridge with the neighbors. And she would be perfectly happy in having the little home she had dreamed of for years and being able to stay in it, instead of having to punch the time clock every morning.

But, unfortunately, when the business woman awakes a mahogany desk for a kitchen range, it isn't always a howling success. The woman who has been drilled in efficiency feels like a high-powered Diesel engine put to doing a one horse-powered job, when all she has to do is to take care of a two-by-four flat. The girl accustomed to her own fat pay envelope doesn't enjoy asking her husband for carfare. The girl who always worked in a crowd is lonesome and bored shut up in a few rooms by herself.

So there you are, son. The domestic girl and the business girl both have their faults and their virtues, and all you can do is to take your choice and pray that you guessed right.

Bomber Crashes On London Street

WATFORD, Hertfordshire, England, April 14 (AP)—An oxygen bottle hurtled like a bomb through a bungalow roof as an RAF Wellington bomber crashed Sunday in the street of this London suburb. The pilot was killed, but two other crew members parachuted to safety. The oxygen bottle ripped a two-foot hole in the bungalow roof, and thudded into the bedroom of the owners. Other houses were damaged by falling parts of the plane, but no civilians were hurt.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

If you make faces at life you often are better off. It seems preferable to take it with gestures rather than negatively.

Anyway, if you make such funny faces that you cannot help laughing at yourself, it is always a bonus, whether the grimaces are psychological or facial!

Advice to exercise the jaw muscles will, no doubt, bring many cryptic remarks from the masculine part of the family! Nevertheless, it is a good idea. The jaw-like appearance which most women acquire as the years accumulate, is aging and unattractive, and comes partly from sagging muscles. Unless you are a very energetic and pantomimic talker you actually do not use your facial muscles very strenuously.

From personal observance, and research, I have found that most women who have lovely chin lines and indefinite date lines, have indulged regularly in facial and neck exercises. It is never too late to begin! Whenever a woman stops thinking of herself with vanity, she is about done for. This does not mean that we should overlook the most important factors in charm, those which have spiritual and mental and personality foundation, but the things we can do physically to help ourselves along, are also important.

Often women have lovely silhouets and old-looking faces or youthful facial contour and middle-aged figures. We might as well add a few minutes to our daily routine and make the two match. Actually, facial exercises should not be indulged in for long periods of time (muscle fatigue is bad) but they should be done regularly.

I have many testimonials as to the value of facial exercises, in unrecorded conversations and in letters from readers. A recent letter says, "Please send me several copies of your facial exercise routine. They have done wonders for me and my friends are asking me what I have done. I would like to pass them along."

There are many splendid facial exercises. If you would like to improve facial contour or prevent slumping in that area, you might try this one: Always apply lubricating cream before taking the exercises. Sit in front of a mirror. Pull the right corner of your mouth toward your right ear. Do this slowly and hold the position while you count ten. Slowly relax and return to normal position. Next, pull the left corner of your mouth up toward your left ear. Hold. Relax. Continue doing exercise five times on each side daily.

If you want my leaflet No. 9 "Facial Exercises," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

When small children begin to play outdoors in the spring days, the mother is compelled to do some serious training in order to prevent accidents.

The child, up to four years of age, cannot be given the run of the streets without courting disaster. The small child has no judgment, is not influenced by threats of punishment and has too short a memory, anyway.

Up to three years of age the child may have to be kept on a securely screened porch, behind a fence or in a play pen, unless the mother is close enough at hand to be responsible for his behaviour.

Children appreciate liberty and should be taught how to enjoy it. They should be given the opportunity to play out of doors and still have limitations to their freedom.

It is better to say, "You can go as far as that walk next door, or down to the end of this street," rather than to say, "You can't go out in the street or beyond that walk." Concrete, positive statements impress a child, the same statement prefaced by, "You can't," inspires him to show that he can.

Watch him. He'll forget and run away, and such behaviour should carry an immediate penalty. It isn't enough to yell out, "I'll bring you in the house if you go away!" do that without any preamble. What the child must learn is that you must insure that he stay at home because that is where he is safe. But if he forgets or disobeys he loses his liberty out of doors. You're sorry, of course, and tell him so, but you have to know where he is, and if he can't stay where you tell him to stay, then in the house he must come.

Some children are far easier to manage than others, so that every mother does not have a comprehension of how difficult it is for other mothers to control their children. For the child who pines for greater fields beyond, take him for a long walk daily, let him explore his environment with you, the mother, in attendance. But be strict about running away.

"I tried every perfume on the market, but what really got him was the smell of fried chicken!"

Engineer

Fitzpatrick, W. O. Parlee, Bruce V. Whittaker, Neil Primrose, J. D. Paterson, J. R. McMillan, CNR superintendent, W. Alexander, motor power superintendent, A. E. Parks, travelling motor engineer, W. B. Frame, assistant superintendent, D. McPherson, assistant superintendent, F. Harper, foreman of engines, and H. R. Blackwood, all CNR executives.

Edmonton Shriners paid signal tribute to Mr. Bell. They turned out in regalia to welcome their brother member as he ended his last run.

AS THE RETIRING engineer stepped from his engine he was greeted by his daughter with a hug and a resounding kiss. Other members of his family greeted him in a more restrained fashion.

Mr. Bell was born at Franklin, Vermont, on the Quebec border, on April 14, 1882, and in his early years worked on a dairy farm.

Later he served his apprenticeship in a creamery as a butter and cheese maker, leaving this occupation when 18 to join the Central Vermont Railway at St. Albans in 1901 as a brakeman. He became a brakeman at 18, a fireman at 19, and an engineer at 20.

In 1910 he joined the Canadian National Railways at Prince Rupert, working out of that city on construction. He was engineer of the first passenger train operated from that city.

He came to Edmonton in 1919, and for the past seven years has been an engineer on the Edmonton-Wainwright trans-continental passenger run. Prior to that he was engaged on through freight runs on the Edmonton division, and on the west end.

MR. BELL RECALLS with pride his selection as the engineer of the special train that carried the Duke of Connaught, former Governor-General of Canada, on his nationwide tour of the Dominion in 1915, and also on the occasion of Princess Patricia's tour of Canada in 1917.

A staunch union man, Mr. Bell has been a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for more than 40 years. He will be the recipient of a 40 year membership badge at a ceremony to be held next June.

Music Award

Miss Stanton, Miss Gallis and Mr. Gilley.

Mr. Nelson expressed his pleasure at sponsoring such a program, which had continued for 25 weeks, commencing last October. In all, 62 contestants had appeared before the microphone, while necessary time limitations had necessitated refusal of about 40 other applications.

IT WAS announced that the three finalists would appear in a series of programs over C.J.C.A., sponsored by the Birks store, commencing at 4:30 p.m. next Saturday.

"I am overwhelmed," said Miss Stanton after the award was made. "I will use the money to further my musical studies."

Miss Stanton has obtained her ATCM and LRSM diplomas and is generally regarded as one of this city's most brilliant pianists. Announcement of all awards was greeted with sustained applause.

AN UNREHEARSED, and unexpected addition to the program took place when Miss Frazer, during presentations, to the semi-finalists, sprang from the wings, made her way past the other semi-finalists who were on the stage, stepped up in front of announcer Ed Bryant at the microphone, and stated that she had withdrawn from the competition. She said that her music came before material gain.

She said that she was a good sport, but nevertheless was withdrawing.

While it was not definitely stated, it was learned she was dissatisfied with the position she had gained among the contestants.

Cancer Drive

in the campaign, and expressed the wish that his results will be fruitful, in the efforts to control and cure the spread of cancer in Canada.

ONE IN EVERY eight persons in Canada die of cancer; last year the death toll from this disease was 14,000. Mr. Martland stated, as he appealed to every citizen of Edmonton and district to rally behind the campaign, and put their dollars to work against the nation's second highest death dealer.

He said that one in every three persons can be cured of disease if early treatment is provided. The treatment can only be achieved through a well-informed public, and education is one of the prime motives of the Cancer Society.

EVERY CITIZEN should have a part in this fight, and can assume that part by sending in donations, large or small, to local committees or to the Edmonton campaign headquarters, 10130 Jasper avenue.

The Cancer Society also gives material aid to cancer victims through the free issuing of cancer dressings, and also in the provision of hospital equipment, clinics, patient accommodation, transportation, cancer dressing stations, X-ray and radium, special course for doctors and nurses.

Mr. Martland stressed that all funds contributed within the province will be expended within the province.
